U.S. Probation Officer Action:

On August 10, 2010, the Court approved a modification imposing the condition of ten months in a halfway house placement in response to previous violations of supervised release. Mr. Cook is scheduled to report to his halfway house placement on August 23, 2010.

The offender reported unannounced on August 17, 2010 and his continued non-compliance was discussed and he was instructed to report to his halfway house placement on August 23, 2010. Mr. Cook was advised that, even though Your Honor approved the modification for his halfway house placement, that if he fails again, he will be looking at incarceration from the Court.

Despite the offender's continued violations, our office recommends that the offender be allowed to continue with his halfway house placement as scheduled. It is hoped that this more structured environment will assist in turning Mr. Cook's dismal situation around. Mr. Cook will be advised that further violation(s) may result in revocation of his term of supervised release.

Respectfully submitted,

CHRISTOPHER MALONEY, Chief
U.S. Probation Officer
